EASTER DAY IN BELLEFONTE

The Churches Crowded With Good People on this day.

W. C. T. U. AT THE JAIL

The Story of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ Preached From Most Every Pulpit in the Town. The Day was Jubilant with Songs and Praises

CHURCHES DECORATED WITH FLOWERS.

The sorrow of the Lenton season gave way Sunday to the joy of Easter. From the heralding of the dawn with trumpet and song, with white robed choirs of youth, with prayers and with praise; and thence forward through-out the day the glad victorious strains of the Easter message resounded in churches of every creed throughout the town.

The spirit of the Resurrection was expressed with unsparing lavishness of thought and effort and service. Nature contributed her choicest productions in the way of flowers, ferns and palms, choir masters and singers gave forth to the hundreds of churchgoers their greatest master pieces of sacred music. The clergymen rose to their highest points of sermonic culture, this was all done that this wonderful day of days may be proclaimed to the world in fitting grandeur.

Music dominated the day. All the choirs of the town were re-enforced by the choicest products of instrument and human voice.

Never before has the richness and sumptuousness of the musical program reached such heights as was attained this year.

Thus, by uplifting sermons, elaborate floral decorations and imposing and beautiful music, the gladdest day of the christian year was celebrated in the religious circles of the town more extensively than ever before. The good ladies of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Salvation Army visited the jail and told the story of the Resurrection to the men confined there. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. presented each one of the prisoners with a beautiful blooming Easter plant.

Following is an account of some of the church services.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

At 8 a. m. the first Communion was celebrated and the vested choir of ladies and gentlemen and boys sang the usual plain music. There was a large attendance and the offering was for Diocesan Missions.

At 11 a. m. the full choir of 23 voices sang Dudley Bocks Te Deum in B minor with Miss Henrietta Butts of the Presbyterian Church as soloist.

The Jubilate was by Reade, and in place of the first hymn Miss Knowles of Richmond Va., sang "God shall wipe away all tears" from Sullivans Light of the world. In the offertory Anthem: "In the End of the Sabbath," by Macfarlane Miss Butts was soloist while Mr. John M. Bullock was soloist in "Christ on Passover" and the Te Deum, and Mr. Russell Blair sang solos in the Te Deum and also in the offertory antbem. He was also soloist in both the Agnur Dei and the Sanctus by Cruickshank. The Rector preached from the two clauses of the Apostles Creed "The Third Day He arose again from the dead." "I believe in the Resurrection of the body." There was a large attendance and the offering was for Diocesan Missions The church was beautifully decorated with lillies and palms by the Altar Guild Mr. W. Fred Reynolds, President.

In the evening at 7:30 a Floral Festival was held for the children of the Sunday School and the church was again crowded to the doors. In the Anthem "Awake thou that sleepest," Messrs. Bullock and Blair were the soloists.

The Rector delivered an address on Flowers interputing each letter of the word and telling a lot of appropriate stories. Each scholar and choir boy received a potted geranium in bloom: the Rector presented each lady in the choir with a potted Easter lily in bloom, and every gentleman with a potted hyacinth in bloom.

The children presented the mite chests containing their Lenten savings half of which went to General Missions and half to the Parish House fund. The offering of the congregation was for General Missions. Mr. C. F. Montgomery, the efficient and courteous Superintendent arranged the seating of the children and the distribution of the flowers with great skill and ability.

All the musical services were arranged by the accomplished choir mistress Miss Mary Bradley who presided at the organ in her usual brilliant way

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Easter was certainly a happy day at the Presbyterian church. The Auditorium had been handsomely decorated, and one felt the Easter Spirit as soon as the room was entered. In the morning, Dr. Platts preached upon the "Easter Fact and Easter Message." After presenting the resurrection of Christ in its historic relationships, he discussed three great truths suggested by his text, viz. the light thrown upon the world—old question of the immortality of the soul; the supernatural element revealed in the whole life and Gospel of the Christ; and the evidence of the Divine Plan of the Ages. In the evening, the large audience room was literally packed to the doors. The choir had been somewhat enlarged for the occasion, and had worked hard under the able direction of Miss Brisbin. Schnecker's "Risen King" was sung entire, and largely comprised the musical program. The trio of ladies, the Male Quartettes, solos, in fact, all the parts were finely sustained throughout. Miss Van Pelt sang Shelley's "Resurrection" with splendid effect. Dr. Platts gave a short address in place of the sermon, as the musical features occupied nearly an hour. Taken all in all, it was a day not soon to be forgotten. Special services are to be held in the church during this week at 7.45 o'clock. Dr. Platts will be in charge of the services and preach each evening.

REFORMED CHURCH.

Easter day services at St. John's Reformed Church were not only interesting but spiritually very helpful. The Holy Communion was celebrated at both of the regular services. The number of communicants exceeded any former year during the present pastorate. At the morning service the choir sang "Awake Thou That Sleepest," by Redhead, and "Hallelujah! For the Lord is Risen" by Hughes.

The floral decorations were very tastefully grouped about the pulpit, and altar.

The benevolent offerings for the day were unusually large. The Communion offerings amounted to $75.38. The self-denial offerings of the Sunday School were over $27.00. Additional self-denial offerings of $6.27 brought the total benevolonces of the day to the sum of $108.65.

In the evening the Sunday School Festival services were held at 7 o'clock. The service consisted of Easter carols, presentation of offerings by the classes and an address by the pastor. Large congregations were present at all of the services.

During Holy Week the following persons were received into full membership of the Reformed Church.

Mr. G. Edward Harper, Mrs. Lotta P. Harper, Mr. Edward R. Klinger, Mrs. Bertha Klinger, Mr. B. Frank Deitrich, Mrs. Emma J. Deitrich, Miss Bertha M. Deitrich, Mr. Fred Tillman, Mrs. Jennie Tillman, Mrs. Mary Greth, Mr. Blaine Mapus.

UNITED BRETHREN CHURCH.

The services in the United Brethren Church yesterday began by a lesson on the Resurrection of Christ in the Sunday School and was followed by a sermon on "Lessons from the Empty Tomb in Joseph's Garden," after the sermon there was an inspiring Communion service in which many participated. The subject for the evening sermon was "Our Easter Hope and Duty."

The day was one of special devotions and blessed fellowship. On the first Easter morning when our Lord rose from the grave, hope was born into the world. The Easter hope is a hope of immortality beyond the grave. The light shed upon the grave falls upon the vista of eternity and we can see at this glad Eastertide immortality beyond. We all want to live the thought of death with its sad separations is repulsive and we shrink from it. But Christ said, "He that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live, the Easter hope is ahope of immortality of a blessed life forevermore. It is also a hope of seeing and being with Jesus. Can we fully grasp what this means.

Here we talk about Jesus, read about Him, sing about Him. But there, when our Easter hope is realized we shall

BERT KANE HAS PASSED AWAY.

The Summons Came Saturday Morning at Eight O'clock. Had Hosts of Friends.

"In the midst of life we are in death," and so the word of God has been fulfilled again in the passing away of our young friend Bert Kane.

Death is a wonderful mystery, and when the soul of a dear friend passes into that other world we say we can not understand why God brings these trials and tribulations on us and they seem to almost break our hearts, and at times we are almost unable to bear the burden. But he has said "Behold I am with you, and will comfort you" Yes, it is true we don't understand now, but some day the veil will be drawn aside and we shall behold Him in His majesty and power, and everything will be made clear and we shall know Him as He is now. All sorrow and tears shall be wipt away and the mysteries of today will mean happiness in the hereafter.

We don't know of any young man who has passed away recently that has had more friends than Bert Kane. He was very popular among the young men of the town. Kind, warm, hearted, genial, with a splendid disposition, made up the qualities of the deceased. And then he loved his Master, he delighted in going to church, he was a Catholic by Faith and when in health was always seen at church on days of worship. Another good quality that the young man possessed was, he honored his father and mother and was very kind and considerate to them. He will be wonderfully missed in the home and among his associates

Herbert L. Kane, (better known among his friends as Bert) was about 29 years old. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs James Kane of Bellefonte. He has been sick a little over three weeks with typhoid fever. He was a member of the St. John's Catholic church of Bellefonte. Up until he took sick Bert has been employed at the Pennsylvania Match factory and he was held in high esteem by his employers and employees. He leaves to mourn his death his father and mother and the following brothers and sisters. Lose T John P. James, Joe, Burney, Vincent, Gertrude, Stella, Agnes, Julia, and Kathryne.

Another sad feature in regards to this death, the father and one of the sisters are both in Philadelphia having medical treatment and the bereavement of this son and brother will be a great shock to them.

Rev. Father McArdle conducted High Mass over all that was mortal of the late Herbert Kane in the St John's Catholic church Tuesday morning at ten o'clock.

The Catholic funeral services all through are very sad and impressive. Father McArdle spoke very beautifully of the one who had just past out of this life. The singing by the large choir of young ladies and gentlemen was very pretty and touching.

The casket was covered with pretty floral peices sent by loving friends as a token of their esteem and respect. One large cross of roses, callow lillies and carnations was given by the employees of the Shirt factory, and a large casket boquet of carnations by his gentlemen friends.

The casket bearers were Messrs. James Lingle, of Sunbury, Newton Dunlap, Clarence Rine, Samuel Cherry, Lawrence O'Leary, and Fred Hull Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.

—The Orange team of the Y. M. C. A. banqueted at the Bush House on Friday. The team is composed of Ralph Cole, Mannie Joseph, Girard Altenderfer, Paul Rumberger, Harris Olewine, Horace Hartranft. Messrs. Meserve and Godfrey were guests of honors.

SHARPER IN BELLEFONTE

Tried to work his Scheme on James Wian.

3 SETS OF HARNESS.

Check Drawn on Charles H. Long of Mill Hall who Denied Having ever Signed his Name to the Same

THE SHARPER FLEW DOWN THE PIKE.

On Tuesday morning a well dressed gentlemen about 45 years of age, heavy set, dark mustache walked into Mr. James Wian's Harness shop and selected three sets of harness amounting to $69.50. He said I represent Mr Charles H. Long of the Clinton House, Mill Hall. Mr. Long has been buying his harness from dealers in Lock Haven, thought he could better in Bellefonte. He gave Mr. Wian a check with Mr. Long's name to it, and asked that the harness be sent to him at Mill Hall.

After the gentleman went out Mr. Wian brought the telephone into use and called up Mr. Long at Mill Hall who positively denied having had any thing to do with the transaction and that he had never given any man instructions to sign his name to a check. Mr. Wian did not send the harness nor has this slick individual been around this neck of the woods since he tried his little scheme that failed.

THIRD MASQUERADE SKATE.

Forty-two Young Ladies and Gentlemen Participated.

On Monday evening a large crowd of people gathered at the armory to witness the third masquerade skate. Forty-two young ladies and gentlemen took part in the affair that proved a success in every particular.

Mr. Taylor offered two prizes to be given to the best and most unique costumed young lady and gentlemen. Miss Lucretia Williams carried off the ladies prize while Thomas Beaver won the gentlemen's.

Miss Williams was gowned in a Sun Flower costume. Her head gear slippers and dress were made entirely of sun flowers, she certainly did look very pretty and deserved the ladies prizes Mr. Beaver represented an Irish Lord.

In our estimation Bussler and Blair were the stars of the evening and caused more laughter and fun than any others on the floor. Blair represented a dummy and was hauled in the armory in a push cart by Bussler who was dressed as a "Way Down Eastener," from the time they entered the armory the fun began. Blair certainly played his part to perfection, Bussler had his hands full as he pushed this would be "dummy" around the room for over an hour and when he wanted the right of way he had an electric bell attached to to the back of the dummy that he would ring.

Gust Heverly as "Duke Charles the II" was favorably mentioned by the wall flowers, he was attired in a magnificent seal skin robe with hat to match and Miss Moshbarger as a daughter of Company B. 5th N. G. P. was gowned in a beautiful red satin dress with hat to match, she was also mentioned favorably.

Miss Barnes and Mr. Montgomery led the grand march in their usual commendable way. Mrs. John Lane, Mrs. Elizabeth Calloway and Mrs. Kathrine Burnett were the judges. The prizes Mr. Taylor gave were two beautiful gold signet rings and the others who participated in the masquerade a private skate will be given them tonight. The Coleville band will be present and render their old time excellent music.

Cameron Stover Married

On Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 Mr. Cameron Stover (son of Mr. and Mr. and J. Fall Stover of Bellefonte and Miss Mae Curry of Sunbury were united in marriage by Rev. Nicolas of the St. John's Lutheran church of Butler. Mr. and Mrs. Stover arrived in Bellefonte Thursday evening and are spending part of their honey moon at the Stover home Mr. Stover is a painter by trade and has a home already furnished for his bride. This paper wishes them unbounded success through life.

ROBBERY AT CENTRE HALL.

Thieves Enter the Post Office About 2 o'clock Sunday Morning.

The past few years Centre Hall and the lower end of Penn's Valley has been a mecca for dastardly crimes of different kinds. Murder and robbery seem to reign supreme in that end of the country. Beginning with the awful Etlinger tradgedy some years ago when the county was stirred from centre to circumference with the highest pitch of excitement, and culminated in the death of Constable Barner and Etlinger, his assassin. Other little crimes of lesser importance occurred between that time and the killing of Clyde Auman by Peter Rider and then the awful mountain tradgedy, the fiendish murder of Josiah Dale on Nov. 12th 1906. And now to record the robbing of the Post Office at this little town of Centre Hall on Sunday morning.

Nearly every citizen of this little place is a law abiding respected person, but it seems to be infested every once and awhile with disreputable persons. Only a couple years ago the Post Office was robbed, and an attempt has been made several times to rob the bank. Several men were seen lurking around this institution a few nights ago, and a neighber living nearby opened a window and fired several times, thus frightening the would be robbers away and perhaps saved the bank from losing a large amount of money and no doubt saved the life of the night watchman. Several umbrella menders were seen in the town during the week and acted very suspicious and the robbery of the Post Office is laid at their door, for they have not been seen since late on Saturday.

The quiet little town was thrown into a tumult of excitement on Sunday morning about 2 o'clock by an explosion, citizens living a great distance from the Post Office heard the noise. Miss Verna Geiss ran to the front window of her home that is just opposite the Government building and noticed several men walking out. She called to Mr. Brisben and Mr. Hewitt her neighbors and telephoned to Captain Boal the Postmaster, that the Post Office was being robbed. Messrs. Brisben and Hewitt and half dozen other men gathered on the scene a short time afterwards and surrounded the building thinking they had the "birdies" in the cage. Captain Boal arrived and led the host into the midst of the fight, but the sly Knights of the Hammer and Chisel had made good their escape. Searching parties at once started out, but the night was so dark that nothing could be seen or located. The telephone was brought into service and all nearby towns notified of the daring robbery. The Republican reporter arrived on the scene about ten o'clock and found the little town greatly excited. Searching parties had started out again toward the Seven Mountains while others went in other directions.

Sheriff Henry Kline and chief of police William Beezer of Bellefonte reached Centre Hall at 12 o'clock and started toward Coburn where they arrested two men who gave their names as William White and Edward Rine, two jolly old roustabouts, who didn't know a thing about the robbery, they were suspicious looking characters and it was thought best to bring them over to jail. We received information from the county prison later that they don't think they had the right parties.

Captain Boal feels his loss keenly and it is not deffinitely known whether he will be the whole loser or whether the United States Government will stand the loss. We certainly do not think the Postmaster should have to loose this large amount as it is the Governments place to supply safe deposits for their property. As it is, Captain Boal has lost heavily in the way of notes, articles of agreement, private papers, mortgages, deeds and other valuables that cannot be replaced.

The Government loss is $424.73 in stamps; $47.75 postal funds; $13.19 cash from money orders; 74 blank money orders ranging from 5125 to 5200 were also taken. Mr. Boal had $40. in paper money that he had put in his pocket before leaving the office Saturday night. This was saved.

The Government has a standing reward of $200 per man for post office robbing and this should be an incentive to catch the fellows.

William R. Reese Married.

On Thursday afternoon William Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Reese of Bellefonte and Miss Anna Donnelly both of Patton, were secretely married at Williamsport. Mr. and Mrs. Reese spent a few hours in Bellefonte on their way to Patton. The Republican wishes this happy young people unbounded happiness and joy through life. They will reside in Patton.

LUNACY COMMISSION

Loses one Member and Gains Another.

HEALTH AND BUSINESS.

Compels his With Drawal. David McClure is the new Member—Another Eminent Lawyer Selected by Judge Fitzgerald.

THE JURY EXCUSED UNTIL MONDAY.

New York, March 27th.—After the jury which has been trying Harry K. Thaw for more than two months past was excused today until next Monday morning, and the members of the lunacy commission named yesterday afternoon by Justice Fitzgerald to inquire into Thaw's present state of mind had been sworn in, there came the sudden announcement late in the afternoon that former Supreme Court of Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, the chairman of the commission, had resigned. In a letter to Justice Fitzgerald Judge O'Brien stated that upon reflection he was forced because of the condition of his health and professional engagements previously entered into, to decline to serve as a member of the commission. Justice Fitzgerald immediately made a new order appointing David McClure, a well known attorney of this city and a member of former Police Commissioner McAdoo's advisory committee of citizens, to fill the vacancy. Mr McClure met the other members of the commission this afternoon, and was selected as chairman. Later he announced that the first session of the commission will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the court room where the trial has been in progress. The commission's inquiry in general will be an open one, although there will be executive sessions from time to time.

CASTORIA.
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Look out for these Sharpers.

An attembt was made to work the "lost pin" skin game at Vail the other day without success. A well dressed stranger stopped at the home of D. O. Downing and stated that in passing by that section in his automobile his wife had lost a jewelled pin of $1.500 value When he gave up the search for the pin he left his city address with Mr. Downing, stating that he would pay a large reward for the recovery of the pin. The same evening another stranger stopped at Mr. Downing's home with a pin which he said he had found. Of course the second stranger was hard up, needed enough cash to get to Pittsburg, and was willing to hand over the "found" pin for the requisite traveling fund. Here was a great chance for Mr. Downing to speculate, but he did not bite, and the second stranger left with his pin and no car fare. It will be well for folks to look out for these sharpers.

The Farmer's Wife

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

When Longfellow Dined.

"Yesterday I dined with Dominican friars at the convent of San Clemente. Archbishop Manning and several people of note were there. We had a jovial dinner and good wine, and every dish was Italian, not to say Italianissimo. After dinner we went into a small coffee room, where the inquisitor tried to light a fire, with small success. Some one cried out, 'Ah, padre, the days have gone by when fires can be lighted by inquisitors!' and there was a roar of laughter, in which the padre aforesaid joined heartily."

"Yesterday Lowell gave a supper to Thackeray. We sat down at 10 o'clock and did not leave the table until 1. It was a very gay affair, with stories and jokes.

"'Will you take some port?' said Lowell to Thackeray.

"'I dare drink anything that becomes a man,' replied T.

"'It will be a long while before that becomes a man.'

"'Oh, no,' cried Felton; 'it is fast turning into one.'"—Extracts From Longfellow's Letters.

A North Atlantic Curiosity.

"In the midst of the north Atlantic there is an enormous field of floating seaweed which kept its place presumably for centuries," said an old sea captain. "It occupies an immense eddy about the fifty-sixth degree of west longitude and between the twenty-second and twenty-eighth degrees of north latitude. There is a great difference of opinion regarding the origin of this floating mass. Some believe it to be detached from rocks at a considerable depth in the latitude where it floats. Others suppose it to come from the shores of the northern seas, having been detached from the rocks by the violence of the winds. Some again imagine that it comes from the rocky shores of Florida and Mexico, while many others agree with me in believing that it has never had any other than its present place of abode. No one has ever seen it attached to rocks, nor have roots ever been discovered belonging to it."

What a Man's Beard Tells.

"You can tell some of a man's habits and read some of his traits of character from his beard," said the old barber. "If a man spends his days at a desk beside a window his hair and beard will grow faster on the side toward the window. Plants and beards both flourish under the influence of sunlight. Why, one of my customers found the effects of the side light so pronounced that he changed his office desk to face the window. Another interesting fact is that, when a man is up late or works long hours, he needs a shave oftener than if he took the usual amount of sleep. That's because in being awake he keeps the vital processes of his body in greater activity than when asleep. The growth of the hair depends largely on the circulation of the blood, and the heart slows down when we sleep."—Kansas City Star.

Fog and Sound.

In a fog at sea the toll of a bell buoy is singularly grave and solemn, well matched by the weird note of a whistling buoy. Unfortunately the value of both is lessened in foggy weather from there being but little motion of the sea. Nothing, too, is more difficult than to distinguish in a fog the direction from which a sound comes. This is in part due doubtless to the interference offered to the straight course of the waves carrying the sound, but also probably to the absence of the normal, although unsuspected, co-ordination of eye and ear in locating the origin of sound. The assistance of the eye on sea and land is instinctively given to the ear in many different ways. In a fog the ear has only itself to trust to.—London Spectator.

Describing a Railroad.

The Pall Mall Gazette in 1890 asked its readers to name the worst railway in England. And one English kicker answered thus: "Sir—The Southeastern railway is the very worst railway in the world. The engines are asthmatic. Its lamps are trimmed by foolish virgins. Its fares are excessive. Its carriages let in the snow in winter and are furnaces in summer. Its motto is unpunctuality. Its principal station is approached through the neck of a bottle. It ruins the temper, destroys the digestion and enables one to realize the horrors of Dante's 'Inferno.' I am, sir, yours obediently, the Worm Who Turns."

Noncommittal.

"Guilty or not guilty?"

"Yes," responded the man at the bar.

"What's that?" queried the court sharply.

"You asked whether I was guilty or not guilty, and of course I am. Of the two conditions I could not well escape both."

"But which are you?"

"Aw, go on, judge! What's the jury for?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Slur on a Great State.

It is told of the Right Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, D. D., LL. D., who had been attending an important conference at Lambeth palace, London, that during a very formal function he and his wife were loudly announced as "the bishop of Misery and Mrs. Tuttle!"—Harper's Weekly.

How We Do Change.

"Aha!" exclaimed Mr. Jellus. "Been treasuring another man's picture all these years, eh?"

"Not exactly," answered his better half. "That's a picture of you, dear, taken when you had hair."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ELLMORE'S TEST SUCCESSFUL

COAL KINGS ARE TRYING TO BUY

John Ellmore the Altoona cobbler, who makes ashes burn, gave a demonstration of his new discovery Friday in the boiler room of the Hotel Henry, Pittsburg, before a score of coal and iron men of Pittsburg and vicinity. No test was made at the furnaces of Jones & Laughlin, on account of a misunderstanding, and none will likely be made at present. Ellmore was accompanied to Pittsburg by Dr. H. K. Hoy, who figured that the actual cost of sufficient of the compound to treat a ton of coal will be about 12 cents.

The test Friday afternoon was successful in every way. Two tons of coal were consumed in one furnace, and the ashes afterward burned. While this coal and ashes were being burned, the furnace along side consumed three and one half tons of coal, while the amount of heat generated in the furnace burning the ashes was fully one-third greater than that generated in the other furnace.

Arab Fatalism.

Arab fatalism, which is at the root of his stoic impassiveness, though much talked of, is but little understood in its almost superhuman invincibility. This is brought into strong relief by the history attaching to one of the treasures of the Louvre museum. It is a human skeleton—a skeleton with a history. It is the disembodied framework of a man, an Arab and an assassin. In the flesh he was Suleiman el Aleby, and his hand it was that murdered Kleber, the commander of the French revolutionary army in Egypt. For this crime he was condemned by a French court martial to have his right hand burned off, to be impaled and exposed to birds of prey and to have his body reduced to a skeleton. The last part of his sentence Suleiman bore without a groan or even a wince, but toward the end of the dire ordeal the executioner happened to touch another part of his arm with the redhot iron. "This punishment," he shouted, with anger, "is not in the sentence." Then he underwent the rest of the execution without giving any expression or even a sign of feeling.—London Globe.

Snow Banners.

One of the most magnificent natural phenomena is a California snow banner. When a northern storm sweeps over the California Alps, which run from north to south, one can see sometimes a brilliant white cone shaped banner streaming before the wind from each mountain top. The banners are often several miles long and are formed of the fine snow from mountain crevices, loosened by the storm and swept up over the north side of the mountain top and blown toward the south. When the sun illuminates this snow dust, its brilliancy is extraordinary. This phenomenon is rare. Its cause is to be sought in the peculiarly regular formation of the mountain top and sides. These latter are slightly curved on the northern side, probably by ice action. This curvature hurls the snow up against the top of the mountain, where it is shaped in the peculiar manner by the action and force of the wind.—Translated From Nordstjernen, Copenhagen.

Cash or Credit.

Women should not get credit. Neither should men. Cash is the cure. Tradesmen maybe would have a bad time for six or twelve months, and many a lady would have to "lie low," but in the end we would get both our trade and our money, and she would get her dress and at far less cost.—London Opinion.

"It's sthrange about th' vice prisidincy," said Mr. Dooley. "Th' prisidincy is th' highest office in th' gift iv th' people. Th' vice prisidincy is th' nex' highest an' th' lowest. It isn't a crime exactly. Ye can't be sint to jail f'r it, but it's a kind iv a disgrace."—"Dissertations by Mr. Dooley."

Persistent.

A middle aged man stopped at the subpostoffice in the north end and asked if there was anything for the Murphys.

"No, there is not," said the man at the window.

"Anything for Jane Murphy?"

"No."

"Anything for Anne Murphy?"

"No."

"Anything for Bob Murphy?"

"No."

"Anything for Terry?"

"No, nor for Pat nor for Dennis nor Pete nor Matt nor Edward Murphy. There is nothing for any Murphy, dead, living or unborn, native or foreign, civilized or savage, male or female, black or white, franchised or disfranchised. No, there is positively nothing for any of the Murphys, either individually, collectively, severally, now and forever, one and inseparable."

The little man on the outside of the window looked amazed and then in a persuasive voice said, "Please look and see if there is anything for P. J. Murphy."—Columbus Dispatch.

Almost a Miracle.

A good hearted curate who firmly believed that God was continually working miracles to enable him to help the needy and who seldom had a coin in his pocket, though he was never devoid of the fire of charity in his heart, was accosted one day by a beggar woman. He pleaded utter lack of money and sadly turned aside, but on the mendicant beseeching him to search his pockets he hopelessly put his hand in one and, to his amazement and joy, found a five shilling piece there.

"Another of God's miracles," he exclaimed, and then, addressing the woman: "This coin belongs to you of right. Take it and go in peace." Having told the story a few hours later to his worldly minded vicar and suggested that they should both go down on their knees and render thanks to God, a strange unpleasant light suddenly broke on the mind of the shrewd pastor, who exclaimed in accents not suggestive of thanksgiving, "Good Lord, are those my breeches that you've on you?"—Contemporary Review.

"Ducks and Drakes."

The origin of the common saying "Making ducks and drakes with one's money" is attributed to a game described in the words of an old writer as "a kind of sport or play with an oister shell or stone thrown into water and making circles yer it sinke." If the stone emerges once, it is a duck; if it emerges more than once, the game proceeds according to the following rhyme:

1, 2, A duck and a drake;
3, And a halfpenny cake;
4, And a penny to pay the old baker;
5, A hop an a scotch
Is another notch;
6, Slitherum, slatherum! Take her!

The game is evidently the same as that played even today by every boy who has access to a pond or a quiet river when he tries to make a smooth stone skip along the surface of the water. Its connection with the popular phrase is, of course, only a metaphorical one to indicate heedlessness in the use of money.

"To the Bitter End."

One of the most interesting phases of the study of language is the peculiar manner in which words and phrases originating in mistakes finally grow into the common speech of the people. An instance of this is the expression "to the bitter end," which is commonly used to denote the final extremity of a crisis. Although perfectly proper today, it is in reality a mistake. The correct phrase is "to the better end" and arose from the fact that when a vessel has paid out all her cable in a storm it has run out to the end which has been little used and therefore to the better end. Daniel Defoe uses the proper phrase in "Robinson Crusoe" in his description of the storm at Yarmouth when he says, "We rode with two anchors ahead and the cables veered out to the better end."

Romance of the Cigar.

A bride of a year ago gave her husband a box of long, lean and sickly looking cigars for a birthday present. The man smelled them, looked at the label and then, with tears in his eyes, said: "I cannot bear to smoke your present. I will keep them always as a token of your love." His wife was so touched that she went down town and ordered three boxes of the same brand and had them charged to her husband. When she gave them to him she said: "Here, dear; these are not a present. Smoke them and enjoy them."—Topeka State Journal.

Homeric Symbol.

You know the fine picture in Homer of the dead leaves which fall to make place for the young buds. It is as true of men as of trees; we have our time and pass away. Behind our vanished youth germinates the youth of others. Our children's destiny ought not to be dulled by what there has been in ours. —Revue des Deux Mondes.

An Extraordinary Biography.

The most extraordinary biography in existence is neither written nor printed. It is painted. It contains the life and adventures of Charles Magnes, a noble Venetian. Having been calumniated, he determined to set himself right in the eyes of his contemporaries and employed Paul Veronese to paint his biography. The volume has eighteen pages of vellum. Each has a large central picture, surrounded by ten smaller, each having its appropriate inscription, the whole recounting the most notable scenes in his life.

The Way to Keep Posted.

An Irishman's Will.

I, Timothy Doolan, of Barrydownberry, in the county of Clare, farmer, being sick and wake in my legs, but of sound mind and warm heart,—do make this first and last will and ould and new testament.

First: I give to me body to be buried at Barrydownberry where all me kith and kin that have gone before me, add those that live after, belonging to me, are buried, peace be to their ashes, and may the sod rest lightly over their bones. Bury me near god-father Felix O'Flaherty, betwixt him and me father and mother, who is separated altogether on their side of the yard.

I lave the bit of ground containing ten acres—rale ould Irish acres—to me eldest son Tom, after the death of his mother, if she live to survive him. My daughter Mary and her husband, Paddy O'Ragan, are to have the white sow; she will bring them twelve black bonits. Teddy, me second boy, that was killed in the war of Americky, might have got his pick of the poultry, but as he is gone, I'll lave them to his wife, who died a week before. I bequeath to all mankind fresh air from heaven, all the fishes of the sea they can take, and all the birds of the air they can shoot. I lave to them the sun, moon and stars. I lave to Peter Rafferty a pint of potatoes I can't finish planting, and may God be merciful to him.—Selected.

Our Annual Drink Bill.

The New York Herald has borrowed the following figures upon drinkables in the United States from statistics compiled by a trade publication not named. It is claimed that we spend annually for whiskey, $457,000,000; for beer, $771,000,000; for wines, $96,000,000; for coffee, $162,000,000; for tea, $52,000,000, and for cocoa, $8,000,000. It's queer what a lot of money people spend on coffee, tea and cocoa.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

The Dignity and Sacredness of Motherhood.

Think of the greatest man who has ever lived upon this earth, and then think of him as he lay, an infant, in his mother's arms. Does it seem possible that he should have grown, become great in the world's estimate and perhaps had monuments erected to perpetuate his memory, and yet that the world should have forgotten even the name of the woman who bore him? The son's work is the mother's primarily and, therefore, the recognition of the dignity and tender sacredness of motherhood should no longer be delayed. It is high time that this country's greatest treasures—THE WOMEN WHO HAVE CONTRIBUTED LARGELY TO MAKE IT WHAT IT IS—should be recognized.

Why should not these good mothers be given the right to vote and have a voice in our government—a right that is accorded to some of the most ignorant, most insignificant and vilest of men?

It has been well said that "for every monument to a great man there should be a monument to his mother and the mother's monument should be built first."

But it is not so much the purpose of this brief article to advocate the just rights and privileges due to the women of this country, although it has afforded the writer great pleasure to pen the foregoing brief tribute to their worth and just deserts, as it is to call attention to the fact that when broken down in health and strength by over-work, the too frequent bearing of children, the never ending toil, worry and care of the household, or by whatever may overtax the strength and delicacy of her sensitive system, there is one, tried and proven, safe remedy upon which she may rely to regain health, strength and the power to fully enjoy life.

That remedy is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy made wholly from the roots of native forest plants which have been proven to be most efficacious, reliable and safe in the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, periodical pains, irregularities, wasting and weakening catarrhal, pelvic drains and kindred ailments. It is a remedy, the makers of which print its formula on every bottle-wrapper and attest its completeness and correctness under oath; a remedy devised and adapted to woman's delicate constitution by an educated physician—an experienced specialist in woman's diseases; a remedy, every ingredient of which has received the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice, for the cure of woman's peculiar diseases; a remedy which has more bona-fide cures to its credit than any other sold by druggists for woman's special requirements and the only one which contains no alcohol in its make up

Delicate, weak, nervous women should especially shun the use of alcoholic medicines which, from their stimulating and exhilerating effects may seem, for a time, to do good, but which, from the inevitable effects of the alcohol in shrinking up the red corpuscles of the blood, are sure to do great and lasting harm in the long run. Besides they beget a craving for stimulants which is most deplorable. "Favorite Prescription" is the one remedy for woman's ills which contains no alcohol.

Only invigorating and nerve strengthening effects can follow the use of this famous medicine for women. It can not possibly do harm in any state or condition of the system.

If a woman has bearing down, or dragging pains, low down in the abdomen, or pelvis, backache, frequent headaches, dizzy or fainting spells, is nervous and easily startled, has gnawing feeling in stomach, sees imaginary floating specks, or spots before her eyes, has melancholia, or "blues," or a weakening disagreeable, catarrhal drain from pelvic organs, she can make no mistake by resorting to the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will invigorate and tone up the whole system and especially the pelvic organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. Being made of native American medicinal roots, and without alcohol, it is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic, "Favorite Prescription" imparts lasting strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

No woman suffering from any of the above symptoms can afford to accept any secret nostrum or medicine of unknown composition, as a substitute for a medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is OF KNOWN COMPOSITION and has a record of over forty years of cures and sells more largely to-day than ever before. Its makers withhold no secrets from their patients, believing open publicity to be the very best guaranty of merit.

Dr. Pierce invites all suffering women to consult him by letter free of charge. All letters of consultation are held as strictly private and sacredly confidential and all answers are returned in plain, sealed envelopes. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Simply Couldn't Suppose It.

Scottish folk are proverbially canny and prudent in money matters, and the following shows that the younger generation is no exception to the rule.

A teacher in a lowland school was taking mental arithmetic with a class of boys. She asked one urchin:

"How much would your mother give you to buy four pounds of tea at one and six a pound?"

"We na'er get sae much at once as that, mum."

"Never mind that. Four pounds at one and six?"

"But we canna afford the one and six, mum. We always hae the one and twa."

"Answer the question. What would she give you to pay for four pounds of tea at"—

"Nawthin', mum."

"What do you mean by 'nothing?'"

"She'd na' gie' me only bawbees. She'd tell me tae ask the mon tae pit it doon."

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! But, supposing she did?"

With a pitying smile came the reply. "A can see y're ne'er met ma mither, mum."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

What Lava Is Good For.

Tourists in Italy are astonished at the practical use made of the lava that has flowed from Vesuvius in past and recent eruptions, for all Naples and its vicinity appear to be a world of lava. The streets are paved with it. There are staircases and statues, drinking troughs, bric-a-brac and even jewelry of this strange material which once bubbled from the yellow and dripping lips of the great crater above. The careless guides make money out of it by pressing coins or other objects on partially cooled fragments and selling these to visitors. On the ashy flanks of the mountain there is enough lava to build another New York or Chicago—a shoreless frozen sea, it seems, of dull black that shimmers strangely purple in some lights. These heaving billows and snakelike masses were once white hot, steaming and even exploding as the fiery flood met some little innocent stream on the way down.

Mistakes In War.

In the Bull Run defeat McDowell laid the blame on Patterson. In the battles around Richmond Lee's plans failed on account of Huger's lethargy. At Pittsburg Landing Grant would have been successful but for Wallace. At Gettysburg Lee's hands were tied by the dilatoriness of Stuart. And so on from the foundation of the world to the present time. It has been said by writers on the art of war that every battle is a series of mistakes. These mistakes are made on both sides and are the cause of victory as well as defeat. It is almost amusing to think of the numberless good and sufficient reasons that Shafter could have given if he had been defeated in Cuba. If Japan had been worsted in the Russo-Japanese war, one result would have been that Oyama would have written the book of lamentations and excuses instead of Kuropatkin.—Chicago Chronicle.

An Old Time Playful Prisoner.

Over a century ago there occurred in London what the Annual Register called "a most unparalleled atrocity." It was only the theft of a pocket handkerchief from a pocket, but the circumstances of the deed explain the vehemence of this denunciation. Four men were on their trial for assaulting a man in his house at Ponder's End, putting him in fear and stealing from him, and one of them relieved the tedium of the trial, which lasted eight hours, by picking the pocket of one of the turnkeys as he stood in the dock. An official had the presence of mind to order the restoration of the handkerchief, and the prisoner had enough presence of mind to obey "with the most careless indifference," but the court, we read, "were horror struck." Justice, however, pulled itself together sufficiently to sentence all four men to death.

Swords and Scimiters.

The scimiter of the Saracens was the most effective sword for cutting purposes ever devised. It will be remembered how, according to the story of Sir Walter Scott's "Talisman," with such a weapon the pagan Saladin chopped a soft cushion in two at one blow, to the amazement of Richard Coeur de Lion. With a straight sword one can make a hack or thrust, but to slice an adversary one must saw with it. The scimiter, being curved and wide and heavy toward the end, slices by the mere fact of striking.

Plaster of Paris Bananas.

Bunches of bananas that are absolutely unfit for food hang out in front of the wholesale produce commission houses. Some of them have remained there until they have grown rusty with age.

"Couldn't get a finer looking bunch than that," said one of the dealers the other day, "even if it is plaster of paris. We used to put out the real article for a sign, but the peddlers who came down here had a way of pulling one or two out of the bunch that happened to be hanging there on the hook. The small boys, too, had a way of making a grab for a banana or two. By the time the bunch was on duty under the awning for an hour it was no longer presentable to the aesthetic sense. So we began to cultivate the make believe article, which is not quite so palatable, but just as good for advertising. And even at that some youngster in his haste will grab plaster of paris fruit and get away with it before he realizes that he has made off with something bad for his digestion."—New York Herald.

A Meal of Locusts.

In the West Indies the negroes eat freely of the big grub found in palm trees. The fat, white morsel, which they call "grugru," is not cooked or salted. The aborigines of Australia live almost entirely on a butterfly known as the bugong. The flies appear in batches on the rocks, and the natives smother them with smoke from fires built below. It is said that a Hottentot, with an appetite made sharp by the simple life, can devour 300 fat locusts at a sitting and feel better satisfied than if he had paid $8 for a ten course dinner. The Arabs dry the locusts and pulverize them into flour for breadmaking purposes. The Moors make a stew of them, and after boiling in water for a few minutes they are eaten with salt, pepper and vinegar. The locusts found in Central Africa are enormous, and the native negroes cut them in two and fry them in fat and find them not only appetizing, but nourishing. A flight of these big locusts is a matter of tribal thanksgiving.

Washington Monument's Cap.

The first practical use ever made of aluminium was in fitting a cap on the peak of the Washington monument in 1884. Although aluminium was discovered in 1827 by Professor Wohler of Gottingen university, Germany, at that time it was practically an unknown metal, the cost and difficulty of its production having prevented its development until the general use of electricity made it easy and economical. The cap on the top of the monument is a square pyramid in shape, weighing 100 ounces, and is 8.9 inches in height and 5.6 inches in width at the base. General George W. Davis was in immediate charge of the completion of the monument under General Casey and has the distinction of being the first man to handle aluminium in a practical way. Until that time it had been used only for toys, for "freak" purposes, and small samples had been utilized in making models for the patent office.—Boston Globe.

Gold the First Metal Used.

Gold was probably the first metal known to man because it is generally found native. The oldest metallic objects to which we can assign a probable date were found in a royal tomb at Nagada, in Egypt, supposed to have been that of King Menes. In one of the chambers were some bits of gold and a bead, a button and a fine wire of nearly pure copper. If the tomb was properly identified, these objects were at least 6,300 years old at the time of their discovery. Nearly all of the ancient gold that has been examined contains enough silver to give it a light color. It was gathered by the ancients in the bed of the Pactolus and other streams of Asia Minor.

Marsh Cup Water Plant.

The plant that I found in the Hudson bay region which is most worthy of notice grows in the mossy muskegs, in places where there is little or no grass. It is remarkable for two reasons—the beauty of its flower and its water containing properties. The leaves, which grow flat upon the ground, are broad and green. The bell of the flower seems adapted as a natural reservoir for water, of which, from a large one, there can easily be obtained as much as an Egyptian coffee cup will hold. But the beauty of it was that in the early autumn, when the nights were frosty, but the heat still excessive by day, the water it contained was always iced, for these charming flower bells are evidently constructed to resist frost, and as they close in toward the top they protect from the rays of the sun the lump of clear ice formed within the calyx at night. The result of this was at often when toiling along at midday, hot and weary, through a stagnant swamp all I had to do to slake my thirst was to pluck a few of these miraculous flowers to obtain so many small cups full of delicious water, each with a little lump of ice floating on the top.—Blackwood's Magazine.

FRIGHTFUL WRECK

Near Los Angeles--From 50 to 60 Passengers Dead.

ON SOUTHERN PACIFIC

Train Derailed by an Open Switch at Colton and the Cars Smashed to Kindling.

MANY BODIES WERE TAKEN OUT

Colton, Cal., March 29.—A terrible wreck occurred Thursday afternoon one mile east of here. A Southern Pacific train from New Orleans was wrecked and a large number of passengers reported, to be upwards of fifty or sixty, were killed and injured.

Five dead have already been brought to this city. Nurses and doctors and relief parties have gone to the scene of the wreck.

Four coaches remained in the tracks. One, in which there were a large number of passengers, was smashed to kindling wood.

San Bernardino, March 29.—A telephone message from a correspondent of the Sun at the scene of the Colton wreck says that the train struck an open switch and was derailed. Nineteen bodies are at the morgue in Colton and it is estimated that there are twenty-eight dead in all. Most of the dead are Italians. The mail clerk was killed.—Gazette and Bulletine.

Barrel Racing on Ice.

An exciting form of winter sport in which Canadian boys excel is barrel racing on the ice. Ordinary barrels, with their heads removed, are placed at regular intervals along the race course for about a quarter of a mile. Then at a given signal all the boys skate for the first barrel. Many reach it together, and as each skater must crawl through all the barrels in order to win it is to be imagined that there is quite a scramble for first turn. Sometimes a barrel wheels completely around while the boy is working his way through it, and when he comes out he is so confused that he skates off in the wrong direction. Usually the laugh of the spectators makes him realize his blunder, and he quickly turns about and tries to make up for lost time. It is quite an exciting sport and an interesting one also for the spectator, as the boys and barrels bob about in the most amusing fashion.—Chums.

Getting Her Legal Rights.

An old colored woman, arrayed in a rusty black dress and a gorgeous purple picture hat over which was a black crape veil, appeared at the courthouse of a Carolina town.

"Am yo' de jedge ob reprobates, sah?" she asked, cautiously opening a crack of the office door.

"Yes, I am the judge of probate, aunty. What can I do for you?" was the smiling reply.

"Yassah! T'anky, sah! I's heah 'cause mah ole man died detested an' lef' fo' lil' infidels, an Ah wanter be 'pinted ter be dere executioner, ef yo' please, sah."—Success Magazine.

Hinged Houses.

An American visiting Dublin told some startling stories of the height of New York skyscrapers.

"Ye haven't seen our newest hotel, have ye?" asked an Irishman.

"No," replied the Yankee.

"Well," said the Irishman, "it's so tall that we have to put the two top stories on hinges."

"What for?" asked the American.

"So we can let 'em down while the moon goes by!" said Pat.—Pearson's Weekly.

When Not to Leave a Balloon.

It is a hideous and unpardonable offense to jump out the moment the car touches the ground. The veriest novice should know that a balloon always bounces twice before settling herself for the third and last time on the ground, and you must stick to her till it is all over.—Princess Di Teano in Strand Magazine.

A Sad Case.

"This milk is blue," said the customer angrily.

"I know it, and I'm very sorry," replied the milkman, "but the weather we've been having lately has given the cows melancholia, and it shows up in the milk."—Brooklyn Citizen.

Plenty of Practice.

"I met your friend Dubley today."

"Yes?" I haven't seen him for a long time. I suppose he stutters as badly as ever?"

"Oh, no! He's quite an adept at it now."—Philadelphia Press.

He Helped Relieve It.

"I suppose you saw a great deal of poverty in Europe."

"Yes, a great deal. In fact, I came home for fear I was going broke myself."—Cleveland Press.

Given Up To Die

B. Spiegel, 1204 Virginia St,, Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die, Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." why not let it help you? C. M. Parrish.

—Impure blood runs you down—makes you an easy victim for organic diseases. Burdock Blood Bitters purifies the blood—cures the cause—builds you up.

STRONG Again

is what Mrs. Lucy Stovall, of Tilton, Ga., said after taking Kodol for Dyspepsia. Hundreds of other weak women are being restored to perfect health by this remedy. YOU may be well if you will take it.

Indigestion causes nearly all the sickness that women have. It deprives the system of nourishment and the delicate organs peculiar to women suffer—weaken, and become diseased.

Kodol
For Dyspepsia

enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten. It nourishes the body, and rebuilds the weak organs restoring health and strength. Kodol relieves indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, sour risings, belching, heartburn and all stomach disorders.

Digests What You Eat

Relieves indigestion, sour stomach, belching of gas, etc.

CHARLE C. TUTEN.

Mrs. Mary Ann Johnson Hurt.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Mary Ann Johnson was coming down the steps in front of the Presbyterian church where she had been attending prayer meeting when she accidentally tripped and fell to the pavement thus sustaining a severe strain of the legiments in her hip. It was thought at first that her hip was broken but upon re-examination the doctor found the above injury. She was tenderly carried to the home of Mrs. D. H. Hastings where she has been spending the winter. She suffered excruciating pain last night but today she is resting easier.

Mrs. Johnson is not a young lady and this accident at her age is more severe than if she were younger. There is no other lady in Bellefonte better known than Mrs. Johnson, she is kind and good and loved by all, and it is the sincere wish and hope of everyone that she will speedily recover and be among us again.

Forty Two Years in the Harness.

It is with pleasure that we are able to pay a glowing compliment to our staunch friend Mr. William Thomas, one of the most substantial men under the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

Mr. Thomas rounded out forty-two years last Saturday of good, hard, honest work for this company, and deserves our heartest congratulations for the manner and ability in which he has filled his position. The Company realized in him 42 years ago a man of sterling qualities and for that reason he has been with them all these many years.

Permanent Certificate Examination.

The regular examination for Permanent Certificates was held Friday in the arbitration room of the Court House. The committee having charge of the examination consisted of Messrs. J. E. Wagner, Bellefonte; W. P. Hosterman, Penn Hall; and C. D. Koch, Philipsburg. The following persons compose the class: Miss Cordelia Acker, State College; C. F. Hoy, Zion; H. E. Lerthers, Snow Shoe; Wilbur F. Leathers, Roland; C. C. Smull, Smullton; Miss Lillian Streamer, Philipsburg W. C. Thompson, Howard.

His Scheme Failed.

"I wonder why it is," remarked one of the two men who had just lunched, turning to speak to the other, "that they always have pretty cashiers at these restaurants."

But the pretty cashier, though she blushed and smiled, did not fail to detect the Canadian quarter he threw down in payment of his check.—Chicago Tribune.

Exposed His Hand.

Mrs. Potts—I can't see why you always stay late at your office these nights. I don't see that you gain anything by it. Jack Potts (absentmindedly)—That's so, but I won't always be a loser. Luck will change.—Catholic Standard and Times.

His Own Portrait.

Mr. Misfit (savagely)—Before I married you, was there any doddering idiot gone on you? Mrs. Misfit—There was one. Mr. Misfit—I wish to goodness you'd married him! Mrs. Misfit—I did.—Illustrated Bits.

The Mayflower's Passengers.

The Mayflower's passengers before landing drew up and signed a document which was to serve as the compact to bind them together. Here are the names of the signers:

Most people would think that as man is, with very few exceptions, "right handed" he would be at the same time "right legged." But this is not the case. Almost every right handed man uses his left leg more than his right. For instance, most people find it much more natural to go around circles to the right than to the left. That is because they start with the left leg. Being stronger, it is more readily brought into action, and it is on this account that bodies of soldiery always start to march with the left foot. Almost all courses for foot races are made out for running to the right, and dancers will indorse the statement that the majority of movements are far more easily executed in that direction. The left foot is the one that is placed in the stirrup for mounting a horse, and in jumping it is from the left foot that the athlete "takes off." Thus it will be seen, as a general rule, "right handed" people are "left legged."

A Wellington Ruse.

Once during the Iron Duke's campaign in the Pyrenees it happened that General Picton's disposition for receiving the assault of Marshal Soult displeased him. The danger threatened from in front, and the difficulty lay in delaying the attack until Wellington could effect the change he wished. He was, as usual, equal to the occasion. Waving his hat in the air, he galloped to the front of the regiment as if he meant to order a charge. The whole of Picton's line cheered tremendously, and as the roar died away Wellington was heard to remark half to himself: "Soult is a cautious commander and will not attack in force without ascertaining the meaning of these cheers. That will leave time for the Sixth division to come up, and we shall beat him." This was exactly what happened, and Soult sustained a bloody repulse where he might have won an easy victory.

Smoking In Congress.

The rule against smoking in congress was adopted some years ago at the suggestion of the late Senator Ingalls of Kansas. The Kansas senator complained one day that smoke was being wafted into the chamber from the corridors or cloakrooms. Other senators joined the Kansan in protest. The rule was passed. Later it developed that the smoke came from burning waste near the capitol, and the wind carried it into the building. When it reached the olfactories of Mr. Ingalls it reminded him of a Kansas cigar. But the discovery of the mistake did not abate the rule.—Washington Post.

Points of Law.

"I object to that question, your honor!" exclaimed the attorney for the defendant.

"On the ground that it is impertinent, immaterial and irrelevant, I presume?"

"Only the first, your honor. It's actually impudent. Why, an answer to that question would give my client dead away!"

Naturally so delicate a point had to be taken under advisement.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Out For the Dust.

Eva—Have you decided to accept the young man, Katharine? Katharine—No. At present I look upon him mereas a pack of cards. Eva—A pack of cards? Katharine—Yes. If he has the long green I shall make a deal. Eva—And if he has not? Katharine—Then I shall cut him.—Chicago News.

On the Woozy Mississippi.

A humorist has said "the Mississippi river is so crooked in places that a steamer going south has been known to meet itself coming north, giving passing signals and narrowly escaping a collision with itself."—Detroit Free Press.

Our Nearest Approach.

"Have you any decorations in America like the Victoria cross, for example?"

"Er—er—well, I think perhaps the double cross is our nearest approach to it."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Very Decollete.

"Poor chap! Everything he earns goes on his wife's back."

"Well, if you'd seen her at the opera you wouldn't think he earned much."—Bohemian.

When Longfellow Dined.

"Yesterday I dined with Dominican friars at the convent of San Clemente. Archbishop Manning and several people of note were there. We had a jovial dinner and good wine, and every dish was Italian, not to say Italianissimo. After dinner we went into a small coffee room, where the inquisitor tried to light a fire, with small success. Some one cried out, 'Ah, padre, the days have gone by when fires can be lighted by inquisitors!' and there was a roar of laughter, in which the padre aforesaid joined heartily."

"Yesterday Lowell gave a supper to Thackeray. We sat down at 10 o'clock and did not leave the table until 1. It was a very gay affair, with stories and jokes.

"'Will you take some port?' said Lowell to Thackeray.

"'I dare drink anything that becomes a man,' replied T.

"'It will be a long while before that becomes a man.'

"'Oh, no,' cried Felton; 'it is fast turning into one.'"—Extracts From Longfellow's Letters.

A North Atlantic Curiosity.

"In the midst of the north Atlantic there is an enormous field of floating seaweed which kept its place presumably for centuries," said an old sea captain. "It occupies an immense eddy about the fifty-sixth degree of west longitude and between the twenty-second and twenty-eighth degrees of north latitude. There is a great difference of opinion regarding the origin of this floating mass. Some believe it to be detached from rocks at a considerable depth in the latitude where it floats. Others suppose it to come from the shores of the northern seas, having been detached from the rocks by the violence of the winds. Some again imagine that it comes from the rocky shores of Florida and Mexico, while many others agree with me in believing that it has never had any other than its present place of abode. No one has ever seen it attached to rocks, nor have roots ever been discovered belonging to it."

What a Man's Beard Tells.

"You can tell some of a man's habits and read some of his traits of character from his beard," said the old barber. "If a man spends his days at a desk beside a window his hair and beard will grow faster on the side toward the window. Plants and beards both flourish under the influence of sunlight. Why, one of my customers found the effects of the side light so pronounced that he changed his office desk to face the window. Another interesting fact is that, when a man is up late or works long hours, he needs a shave oftener than if he took the usual amount of sleep. That's because in being awake he keeps the vital processes of his body in greater activity than when asleep. The growth of the hair depends largely on the circulation of the blood, and the heart slows down when we sleep."—Kansas City Star.

Fog and Sound.

In a fog at sea the toll of a bell buoy is singularly grave and solemn, well matched by the weird note of a whistling buoy. Unfortunately the value of both is lessened in foggy weather from there being but little motion of the sea. Nothing, too, is more difficult than to distinguish in a fog the direction from which a sound comes. This is in part due doubtless to the interference offered to the straight course of the waves carrying the sound, but also probably to the absence of the normal, although unsuspected, co-ordination of eye and ear in locating the origin of sound. The assistance of the eye on sea and land is instinctively given to the ear in many different ways. In a fog the ear has only itself to trust to.—London Spectator.

Describing a Railroad.

The Pall Mall Gazette in 1890 asked its readers to name the worst railway in England. And one English kicker answered thus: "Sir—The Southeastern railway is the very worst railway in the world. The engines are asthmatic. Its lamps are trimmed by foolish virgins. Its fares are excessive. Its carriages let in the snow in winter and are furnaces in summer. Its motto is unpunctuality. Its principal station is approached through the neck of a bottle. It ruins the temper, destroys the digestion and enables one to realize the horrors of Dante's 'Inferno.' I am, sir, yours obediently, the Worm Who Turns."

Noncommittal.

"Guilty or not guilty?"

"Yes," responded the man at the bar.

"What's that?" queried the court sharply.

"You asked whether I was guilty or not guilty, and of course I am. Of the two conditions I could not well escape both."

"But which are you?"

"Aw, go on, judge! What's the jury for?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Slur on a Great State.

It is told of the Right Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, D. D., LL. D., who had been attending an important conference at Lambeth palace, London, that during a very formal function he and his wife were loudly announced as "the bishop of Misery and Mrs. Tuttle!"—Harper's Weekly.

How We Do Change.

"Aha!" exclaimed Mr. Jellus. "Been treasuring another man's picture all these years, eh?"

"Not exactly," answered his better half. "That's a picture of you, dear, taken when you had hair."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

To All the Women Who Suffer Pe-ru-na Is Earnestly Commended

Mrs. Geo. C. Worstell, 11 River Road, Clarksburg, W. Va., writes:

"I trust that no one will think from this that I want my name in public for any cause only to let sufferers know where they may find relief from many ailments.

"I can truly say I have been much benefited by the use of Peruna. I feel better than I have for two years. It is the best medicine that I know for pelvic troubles.

"I have taken medicine from the doctors and found no relief; but when I began taking Peruna I could see that before I had finished taking the first bottle it was doing me good."

MISS NETTIE E. BOGARDUS

MRS. GEO. C. WORSTELL

MRS. O. D. ROBINSON

Cold Developed Into Catarrh.

Mrs. N. P. Lawler, 423½ N. Broadway, Pittsburg, Kas., writes:

"Peruna is a sovereign remedy for catarrh. Last spring I caught a severe cold which developed into a serious case of catarrh. I felt weak and sick and could neither eat nor sleep well.

"A friend who had been cured of catarrh through the use of Peruna advised me to try it and I did so at once. I expected help, but nothing like the wonderful change for the better I observed almost as soon as I started taking it.

"In three days I felt much better and within a week I was well. I continued taking the entire bottle and within two weeks I was in fine health. Peruna is a wonderful medicine."

Catarrh of the Bowels.

Mrs. Maggie Durbin, 1332 North St., Little Rock, Ark., writes:

"I was troubled for five years with a chronic disease. I tried everything I heard of, but nothing did me any good. Some doctors said my trouble was catarrh of the bowels, and some said consumption of the bowels. One doctor said he could cure me; I took his medicine two months, but it did me no good.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Peruna and I did so. After I had taken two bottles I found it was helping me, so I continued its use, and it has cured me sound and well.

"If anyone wants to know what Peruna did for me if they will write to me I will answer promptly."

Pains in the Side.

Mrs. Julia Braxton, Apollo, Pa., writes:

"Peruna has cured me of heart trouble and pains in the side.

"A year ago I was expected to die at any time, and the doctor was sometimes called at two o'clock in the morning. But I am thankful to say that I do not not have to send for a doctor now.

"Since I have used your Peruna as you advised me, I am well and able to do all my housework.

"I have all the faith in the world in Peruna as it cured me and I know that it will cure others.

"I cannot praise Peruna enough for what it has done for me."

Stomach Trouble.

Miss Anna Carsten, Clayton, Ill., writes:

"Your Peruna did me so much good.

"I am feeling so well now and have no trouble with my stomach."

Miss Nettie E. Bogardus, R. F. D. 21, Westfield, N. Y., writes:

"I have been a great sufferer from sick headaches, but am now entirely free from that trouble. I have not felt so well in ten years as I do now. I would recommend Peruna and Manalin to all sufferers. I will say, God bless Dr. Hartman and his wonderful remedies."

Stomach Catarrh.

Miss Julia Butler, R. R. 4, Appleton, Wis., writes:

"For the past six years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach, causing loss of sleep and appetite, with frequent severe pains after eating.

"My sister advised me to try Peruna.

"I took your treatment and my appetite returned speedily.

"I gained strength and flesh and am in perfect health.

"I am so thankful your medicine has done me so much good."

Mrs. O. D. Robinson, 43 St. Felix St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I have taken Peruna and it did me more good than all my two years' treatment by special physicians. I can really say that I feel like another person. No more swollen feet and limbs. No more bloating of the abdomen. No more shortness of breath. No more stiff and sore joints. You have no idea what your treatment has done for me. It certainly has prolonged my life and made a new woman of me.

"O, such a blessing I have received through your kindness, doctor, and the assistance of the medicine which you so kindly prescribed. I am able to work since I began your treatment, but before I was not able to help myself, much less work for any one else. All praise is due to Dr. Hartman and his treatment."

EASTET DAY IN BELLEFONTE.

see Him face to face and be like Him.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The Easter services in the Methodist Episcopal church were extraordinary fine. The music was superb, the decorations beautiful, and the congregation large. In the morning the pastor preached upon the text Matt 28 9, the salutation of the risen Christ to his disciples. "All Hail!" his theme being "Easter the Joyful Festival." The choir certainly exceeded in their rendition of the musical programs, both morning and evening. The Sunday School had a special program in the afternoon and a handsome Easter offering for Missions was received.

W. C. T. U.

A beautiful and impressive service was held in the jail on Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. The exercises consisted of several song selections beautifully and effectively rendered by two of the ladies, prayer and addresses by others. Each prisoner was presented with a growing plant and all were highly pleased with this little token of rememberance at Eastertide, when the thought of all Christendom is turned toward Resurrection and Life.

The Farmer Painter.

Mr. Montgomery of Iowa will spend a few days in Bellefonte and during that time will lecture on the religion of arts and other popular subjects. He will have with him more than a score of his wonderful oil paintings. These will be on exhibition during his lectures. Later they will be displayed in some central building where Mr. Montgomery will paint and answer all questions. Mr. Montgomery is said to be one of the greatest artists of today and his coming to Bellefonte will be heralded with pleasure among our society people. His great $20,000 Paris picture will be on exhibition during his stay in Bellefonte.

General Wiley's Report.

In the annual report of the adjutant general of Pennsylvania, General John A. Wiley, commander of the Second brigade, in referring to the encampment of his brigade at Erie, refers to the deportment of the camp in a manner that should allay the idea held by some persons that disorder would ensue in Tyrone if the brigade encampment were located at Tipton this year. General Wiley stated: "Many of the people of Erie were in fear of disorder and opposed to the coming of the soldiers. I am glad to chronicle the fact that the same people later came to the camp and were profuse in their compliments on the splendid behavior and gentlemenly conduct of the troops. We went away with their respect and friendship. I can add to these encomiums the fact of their truthfulness. We never had such good order in camp and under the close application of Major W. Fred Reynolds, of these headquarters, as provost marshal, the same conditions prevailed in the city and surroundings."

"Early in the Morning."

At 5:15, Easter Sunday morning, in Bethlehem, eighteen hundred devout worshippers in the Moravian church, and hundreds more outside who did not come sufficiently early in the morning to gain admittance. After a brief service of prayer and praise, all in the church moved orderly to the cemetery where another service was conducted in a manner deeply impressive. I have time only to say that doing this according to Scripture, is always accompanied with God's gracious blessing. Giving to God the first and best of his sacred time is an uplift Heavenward and at the same time helpful earthward, having promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come, "The Lord is risen indeed." It is said of Him, "Jesus went early in the morning into the temple and all the people came unto him." John 8.1-2

R. CRITTENDEN.

—You can't tell a woman's age after she takes Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea Her complexion is fine. She is round, plump and handsome; in fact she is young again. 35 cents. Tea or tablets. C. M. Parrish.

A Word of Good Cheer.

With the Moravians in Bethlehem, Pa. I see on every hand, that the people here are "diligent in business." There are no idlers to be seen anywhere. Serving the Lord is also in evidence. At this Eastertime, the largest church in the city is filled sometimes twice a day, little children and young people occupying the front pews. All the services are deeply impressive. The music, vocal and instrumental, is of the highest order, enjoyable more than I have words to express. There are no long sermons or long prayers but praise is the principal part at every hour of public worship. True to Scripture there are even in this world, "heavenly places." May be this item of good news may have some slight influence for the dawning of the millennium.

R. CRITTENDEN.

The girl is the mother of the woman just as "the boy is the father of the man." The period when the womanly functions begin is one to be carefully watched and considered. Irregularity or derangement at this time may be promptly met and cured by the use of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription. But neglected at this critical period may entail years of future suffering. "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the womanly organs giving them perfect vigor and abundant vitality. It removes the obstructions of health and happiness, and delivers womanhood from the cruel bondage of "female weakness."

Well recognized authorities of all schools of medicine have nothing but praise for the ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet giving ingredients and what medical authorities say about them. Not a patient medicine but a "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce—who makes the disease of women his specialty. It has forty years of cures back to it.

Life Guards.

The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the King's household, but yours, ours, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases, find allies in the very elements, as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip, and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives vigor and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

"Conspirators."

Cupid and beautiful woman has ever been Charles Dana Gibson's best theme. His picturs that have given him world-wide fame have been mostly pictures of women. Hence the "Gibson Girl," the favorite of three continents. Next Sunday's World will contain an art supplement of unusual merit—Cupid and the Girl. Get it from the newsdealer.

Kemp's Balsam

Will stop any cough that can be stopped by any medicine and cure coughs that cannot be cured by any other medicine.

It is always the best cough cure. You cannot afford to take chances on any other kind.

KEMP'S BALSAM cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, grip, asthma and consumption in first stages.

It does not contain alcohol, opium, morphine, or any other narcotic, poisonous or harmful drug.

Only a Drunk.

Great crowds of men and boys ran toward the bridge on Friday afternoon and of course we wented to see what was doing and away we flew, and all that was to be seen was a cop with a drunkard going toward to lock-up. One of the follows pals was trying to interfere and when at the coop door the policeman gently shoved him in also. It is splendid policy to never interfere with a policeman makin an arrest, because they have the law with them. A great many country fellows come to town in bunches and if one of their crowd gets pinched you often hear some one on the side say, don't let us let him take him to the jug, biff him one, and so on, now it is best to 23 just as fast as you can when you are in a crowd of this kind for as sure as Adam made little apples you will land in the square house also.

The healthy old man wears his gray hairs like a silver crown. What if he be threescore and ten if there is still fire in his eye, firmness in his step, command in his voice and wisdom in his counsel? He commands love and reverence. Yet how few wear the mantle of age with dignity. Dim eyed, querulonc of speech, halting in step, childish in mind, they "lag superfluous on the stage," dragging out the fag end of life in a simple existance. The secret of a healthy old age is a healthy middle age. The man who takes care of his stomach, who keeps his body properly nourished, will find that the body does not fail him in old age. The great value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery lies in the preservation of the working power of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. From this center is distributed the nourishment of the whole body, the salt for the blood, the lime for the bones, phosphates for the brain and nerves. A sound stomach means a sound man. A man who keeps his stomach sound by the use of "Golden Medical Discovers" will wear the crown of gray hairs as befits a monarch, with dignity and ease. Formula printed on wrapper—not a secret, or "patent medicine," but of known composition.

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Poisonous substances are then absorbed into the blood, instead of being removed from the body daily as nature intended. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills, liver pills. All vegetable.

Won Both Fee and Girl.

A young lawyer in a western city was asked by a business man against whom a $25,000 claim was about to be pressed to incorporate his business so as to render him judgment proof. It was his first chance for a fat fee, and he did the job with immense success. "They couldn't find a cent!" jubilantly exclaimed the client after the usual supplementary examination. Pocketing his fee, the attorney hastened to a summer resort to press his suit for the hand of a fair maiden. Only the paternal consent was lacking, so he determined to make himself particularly agreeable to the father. One evening as they were puffing their after dinner cigars the father suddenly asked if the lawyer knew a Mr. ——. Most assuredly the suitor did.

"Well, that old rascal owes me $25,000," grunted the father, "and a telegram informs me that some slick lawyer has fixed him up so I can't recover a cent."

A hilarious outburst followed a minute of silence on the part of the attorney. He told the whole story—and won the girl.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Orchestra Tuning Explained.

Doubtless many theater goers have wondered why it is a practice of orchestra musicians to make their appearance so far ahead of the time of beginning the performance and sit in their seats with nothing to do. Then, at a seeming given signal, all hands begin to "tune up," torturing the ears of the early arrivals with a series of squeaks and scrapes. The mystery was explained by an orchestra leader the other day. "The instruments have to be in accord with the temperature of the house," said he. "There may be several degrees difference between the temperature of the music room below stage and the house itself. If we tuned our violins downstairs they would all be flat when we take our places in the orchestra. For that reason we come upstairs earlier and let our instruments get the house atmosphere before the actual tuning begins."—New York Press.

A Small Horror.

The weasel is one small horror. Astonishingly strong, apparently fearless and as persevering as an ant, when once he has settled to the track of a rabbit that particular bunny is indeed in grave peril. The rabbit seems to know it, too, and the knowledge to half paralyze him, for he seldom attempts the one saving chance—a straightaway, long sustained run at top speed. And the end of the patient, if-we-do-but-wait-the-hour sort of pursuit! 'Tis indeed bloody murder. The fiend within angel garb finally toils within deadly distance. There is a snakelike stroke, most likely aimed at the big vein near the butt of the rabbit's ear. Once there, the brute sticks leechlike to the blood sucking, while the trembling, wailing rabbit totters aimlessly about till its drained body falls limply to pay its tax to mother earth.—Edwin Sandys in Outing Magazine.

Daniel O'Connell.

After a dinner at Lord Dungarvan's, Lady Morgan writes in her diary, I met the redoubtable Dan O'Connell. Dan is not brilliant in private life, not even agreeable. He is mild, silent, unassuming, apparently absorbed and an utter stranger to the give and take charm of good society. I said so to Lord Clanricarde, who replied: "If you knew how I found him this morning! His hall, the very steps of his door, crowded with his clientele. He had a word or a written order for each, then hurried off to the law courts, thence to the Improvement society and was the guest here today. Two hours before he was making that clever but violent speech to Mr. la Touche, and now no wonder that he looks like an extinct volcano."

A Curious Epitaph.

The following epitaph is copied from a tomb in the vicinity of Port Royal, Jamaica: "Here lieth the body of Louis Caldy, Esq., a native of Montpellier, in France, which country he left on account of the revocation. He was swallowed up by the earthquake which occurred at that place in 1692, but by the great providence of God was, by a second shock, flung into the sea, where he continued swimming until rescued by a boat and lived forty years afterward."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

What We Really Need.

Each of us in our own small organism possesses a germ or whatever you like to call it which, properly developed, should eventually lead us to the realization of all our ambitions. All that is wanted are energy and concentration.—London Ladies' Field.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. Home of Swamp-Root.

An Unintentional Joke.

An English writer tells the story of his first sixpence, which he earned by an unpremeditated joke. His father had been for twenty-seven years engaged in a suit in chancery and had just gained his cause. The expenses of the suit, however, had swallowed up the entire estate, the residue being merely 3s. 6d. The writer says:

My father ranged the seven sixpences on our breakfast table.

"My boy," said he, "see what comes of going to law in Great Britain! Your mother has told you that I have won my suit in chancery?"

"Yes, papa."

"Well, then, look! That is all I get of it," and he pointed grimly at the sixpences.

I opened wide my eyes. "All you get of the whole suit?" I echoed with a puzzled air, convinced that a suit in chancery was composed, as other suits are, of a coat, waistcoat and trousers. "Why, papa, those are only the buttons!"

It was this deplorable joke that earned me my sixpence, for my father, laughing, tossed me one across the table, and I rushed off with it like a dog pelted with a bone.

The Blacksmith's Sleeves.

An aged woman was standing before a beautiful picture of a blacksmith in a local department store. The picture was a remarkable painting and had evoked so much praise that hundreds of visitors thronged around it. The figure was that of a village blacksmith standing at his forge, which was blazing with a light that illuminated the whole room. The woman came to the canvas with several younger women, apparently her children. All stood with rapt attention before the work of art, contemplating the light effects and the beautiful shadows. One of the younger women asked of the elderly one what she thought of the picture.

"Well, it's all right but the sleeves," she replied. "I lived in the country a long time, and I know something that the painter with all his knowin' didn't know. That blacksmith's sleeves are rolled out. Now, they don't wear them that way. A blacksmith always turns his sleeves in so the flyin' sparks won't catch."—Indianapolis News.

A Friend In Need.

Immediately after the earthquake in California in 1906 relief stations were established in San Francisco and Oakland. Supplies poured in from neighboring ranches, other towns and other states, but almost all that was sent needed to be cooked before it could be eaten, and of course in many instances homeless wanderers were in immediate need of food. The volunteer cooks did the best they could. They boiled great kettles of soup, caldrons of coffee and oceans of tea, but it was impossible to cook rapidly enough to supply all comers. Late one afternoon when the cooked food supply was running low and a long line of hungry persons still waited to be fed a wagon halted before one of these stations, and a bluff old ranchman addressed the lady in charge.

"Say," said he, "I've brought you 300 dozen of the best eggs in the state, but you won't need to cook them. They're already cooked. I've been boiling eggs since 8 o'clock this morning."

The Economy of a Straight Line

The National Cigar Stands Company is an easy, uninterrupted, straight-line channel between tobacco planter and cigar smoker.

The tobacco makes only one stop on the way—at the factory where it is turned into cigars. It pays only one small fare for the whole trip.

It used to go in a roundabout way, from planter to leaf-broker, from broker to cigar-maker, from cigar-maker to cigar-jobber, from cigar-jobber to retailer, from retailer to you. It paid a fare—that is, another profit—at every stage.

The National Cigar Stands' plan saves four stages and four fares. That is why the cigars sold by them give

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

One Sided Justice.

"Roy Bean, Justice of the Peace—The Law West of the Pecos," was the sign over the shanty where lived the man who for years was the only representative of the law in the great territory west of the Pecos river in Texas. Langtry, named for the Jersey Lily, was his postoffice, and he did business under the honorary title of Chief Justice Bean of the Pecos, making a tidy sum on the side by selling postal cards bearing the picture of his queer justice shop. Years ago, when the Southern Pacific was being built, some cowboys came in on a tear and shot up the town, incidentally killing three Chinese coolies who were working on the railroad. There was a roundup, and the cowboys were brought before Squire Dean. There was much testimony, and the trial was long. At its end he gravely said:

"The testimony shows that these three Chinamen were killed by some of the men on trial. It is pretty clear who did the fatal shooting, but the prosecution has utterly and entirely failed to show where the statutes of the state of Texas make it a crime for a white man to shoot a Chinaman. The prisoners are discharged."—New York Sun.

A Cats' Boarding House.

A woman who had engaged board for two cats at an animal boarding house stopped at the desk on her way out and said: "Oh, by the way, I forgot something. What do you give your cats for Sunday dinner?" "The regular fare," said the proprietor. "I would like you to make an exception in the case of my cats," said the woman. "They have been used to special dishes at home on Sunday, and I am sure they would miss them very much. I am willing to pay extra for the care and expense." "That," grumbled the animal man after acceding to her request, "is one of the peculiar phases of this business. Half the people patronizing a place of this kind insist upon our providing a few choice tidbits for the Sunday dinner of their pets. It is bound to ruin their digestion, but whenever there is a clause in the contract to that effect special Sunday and holiday fare prevails."—Philadelphia Record.

Sunday Theatricals.

Sunday theatricals had a rough time of it at one period of England's history. On Sunday, Sept. 27, 1631, Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was privately performed in the bishop of Lincoln's house in London. The Puritans had the affair inquired into, and there is a suspicion of humor in the punishment awarded to the performer of Bottom, the weaver—"We do order that Mr. Wilson, as he was a special plotter and contriver of this business and did in such a brutish manner act the same with an ass' head, shall upon Tuesday next from 6 o'clock in the morning till 6 o'clock at night sit in the porter's lodge at my lord bishop's house with his feet in the stocks and attired with an ass' head and a bottle of hay before him and this subscription on his breast:

"Good people, I have played the beast
And brought ill things to pass.
I was a man, but thus have made
Myself a silly ass."

Lincoln's Much Quoted Words.

Perhaps the most famous address ever made by President Lincoln is the one that he delivered at the dedication of the soldiers' monument on the battlefield of Gettysburg, and the words most quoted from it are "the government of the people, by the people and for the people." This phrase was no doubt an unconscious quotation, for the same words were used by Theodore Parker in an address to the Anti-Slavery society May 13, 1854. Nor was the phrase original with Parker. Daniel Webster in 1830 used the words "the people's government, made for the people, made by the people and answerable to the people." And even before Webster Chief Justice Marshall had expressed the same idea in similar phraseology.

Tunneled the Register.

A bookworm or some such creature has left his mark upon a volume of the "British Annual Register" of the year 1810 in a club library of New York. The worm ate its way through seventeen leaves of the volume, and for much of the way its path has outlined something very like the crouching figure of a cat, with one ear erect and a short tail. This figure is repeated upon eight or ten leaves and then gradually becomes less clearly defined until the progress of the worm is marked by a single small hole.

The Mayflower's Passengers.

The Mayflower's passengers before landing drew up and signed a document which was to serve as the compact to bind them together. Here are the names of the signers:

Isaac Allerton, John Alden, John Allerton, William Bradford, William Brewster, John Billington, Peter Brown, Richard Britterage, John Carver, Francis Cook, James Chilton, John Crackston, Richard Clarke, Edward Doty, Francis Eaton, Thomas English, Samuel Fuller, Edward Fuller, Moses Fletcher, John Goodman, Richard Gardiner, John Howland, Stephen Hopkins, Edward Leister, Christopher Martin, William Mullins, Edmund Margeson, Degony Priest, Thomas Rogers, John Rigdale, Captain Miles Standish, George Soule, Edward Tilly, John Tilly, Thomas Tinker, John Turner, Edward Winslow, William White, Richard Warren, Thomas Williams, Gilbert Winslow. And servants as follows: Carter, Coper, Ely, Holbeck, Hooke, Langemore, Latham, Minter, More, Prower, Sampson, Story, Trevor, Thompson, Wilder. Women and children increased the total number to 101.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Most people would think that as man is, with very few exceptions, "right handed" he would be at the same time "right legged." But this is not the case. Almost every right handed man uses his left leg more than his right. For instance, most people find it much more natural to go around circles to the right than to the left. That is because they start with the left leg. Being stronger, it is more readily brought into action, and it is on this account that bodies of soldiery always start to march with the left foot. Almost all courses for foot races are made out for running to the right, and dancers will indorse the statement that the majority of movements are far more easily executed in that direction. The left foot is the one that is placed in the stirrup for mounting a horse, and in jumping it is from the left foot that the athlete "takes off." Thus it will be seen, as a general rule, "right handed" people are "left legged."

A Wellington Ruse.

Once during the Iron Duke's campaign in the Pyrenees it happened that General Picton's disposition for receiving the assault of Marshal Soult displeased him. The danger threatened from in front, and the difficulty lay in delaying the attack until Wellington could effect the change he wished. He was, as usual, equal to the occasion. Waving his hat in the air, he galloped to the front of the regiment as if he meant to order a charge. The whole of Picton's line cheered tremendously, and as the roar died away Wellington was heard to remark half to himself: "Soult is a cautious commander and will not attack in force without ascertaining the meaning of these cheers. That will leave time for the Sixth division to come up, and we shall beat him." This was exactly what happened, and Soult sustained a bloody repulse where he might have won an easy victory.

Smoking In Congress.

The rule against smoking in congress was adopted some years ago at the suggestion of the late Senator Ingalls of Kansas. The Kansas senator complained one day that smoke was being wafted into the chamber from the corridors or cloakrooms. Other senators joined the Kansan in protest. The rule was passed. Later it developed that the smoke came from burning waste near the capitol, and the wind carried it into the building. When it reached the dictories of Mr. Ingalls it reminded him of a Kansas cigar. But the discovery of the mistake did not abate the rule.—Washington Post.

Points of Law.

"I object to that question, your honor!" exclaimed the attorney for the defendant.

"On the ground that it is impertinent, immaterial and irrelevant, I presume?"

"Only the first, your honor. It's actually impudent. Why, an answer to that question would give my client dead away!"

Naturally so delicate a point had to be taken under advisement.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Out For the Dust.

Eva—Have you decided to accept the young man, Katharine? Katharine—No. At present I look upon him mereas a pack of cards. Eva—A pack of cards? Katharine—Yes. If he has the long green I shall make a deal. Eva—And if he has not? Katharine—Then I shall cut him.—Chicago News.

On the Woozy Mississippi.

A humorist has said "the Mississippi river is so crooked in places that a steamer going south has been known to meet itself coming north, giving passing signals and narrowly escaping a collision with itself."—Detroit Free Press.

Our Nearest Approach.

"Have you any decorations in America like the Victoria cross, for example?"

"Er—er—well, I think perhaps the double cross is our nearest approach to it."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Very Decollete.

"Poor chap! Everything he earns goes on his wife's back."

"Well, if you'd seen her at the opera you wouldn't think he earned much."—Bohemian.

Work is not a man's punishment. It is his reward and his strength.—George Sand.

Sunflower Most Deceitful of Plants.

"The sunflower," said a naturalist, "is the most deceitful of all plants, for it has fooled six nations. Six nations believe that the sunflower turns toward the sun, and so thoroughly are they deluded that they call it by a name which bears witness to their error. Thus, the French call the sunflower tournesol; the Spanish call it girasol; the Italians call it girasole the Hungarians call it naptaforgo. Each of these words means 'turn to the sun.' The English and Americans don't go quite that far in admitting themselves to be the plant's dupes. They only call it sunflower. They mean by that name, though, quite as much as the other names imply. The belief is general among six nations that the sunflower turns with the sun and always faces the luminary. As a matter of fact, there is only one flower that turns or keeps with the sun—namely, the sun spurge."

Holes In the Legs.

A scientist says that hogs' legs perform a function not known to any other animal, and that is an escape pipe or pipes for the discharge of waste water or sweat not used in the economy of the body. These escape pipes are situated upon the inside of the legs, above and below the knee in the fore legs and above the gambrel joints in the hind legs, but in the latter they are very small and functions light. Upon the inside of the fore leg they are in the healthy hog always active, so that moisture is always there from about or below these orifices or ducts in the healthy hog. The holes in the leg and breathing in the hog are his principal and only means of ejecting an excess of heat above the normal, and when very warm the hog will open the mouth and breathe through that channel as well as the nostrils.

Beggars and Weather.

"What weather is best for our business? Why, winter weather," said the beggar. "Sure, winter makes people generous to the poor. In summer people have an idea that everybody can get along somehow. It's warm then, you know, and they think the poor won't suffer anyway. But the colder the weather the warmer it makes people's hearts, and the more they give then in some ways. The one drawback to my particular line of business in winter is that in cold weather everybody goes about in the streets with gloves on and overcoat buttoned up, and men that would put down their names for a good sum on a subscription list indoors, where they could give it in comfort, are not so ready to drag off their gloves and drag open their coats and go down in their jeans for a nickel out of doors. Even with this drawback, and it's a big one, I do better in winter than in summer. But if it wasn't for that in winter I'd get rich."—New York Sun.

[illegible] Skee Races.

As a test of [illegible] strength and endurance it would be difficult to beat the long distance skee races in Norway and Sweden. Of these contests the most severe is undoubtedly the twelve mile race over the mountains which opens the great annual "Snow Derby" at Holmenkollen, about four miles from Christiania. In this race, which begins with a steep ascent of 400 to 500 feet, the skee lobner has to jump clefts and ravines, to hop over fallen tree trunks and overcome every kind of obstacle that man can devise; to rush down steep declivities and to make his devious way through mountain forests until he reaches the goal, triumphant, but utterly exhausted. Considering the arduous nature of these contests, some of the performances are remarkable. Thus the winner of an international speed competition held at Stockholm covered the course of forty miles at an average speed of eight and one-half miles an hour.

Proper Time to Plow Land.

The proper time to plow land is when it is just moist enough to break up mellow, neither wet enough to leave a slick surface where rubbed by the moldboard nor dry enough to break up in large clods, or, as the southern farmer puts it, when the soil has a good season in it. If continued rain follows wet plowing, little harm follows, but hot, dry winds would soon leave only a mass of unmanageable clods. In spring and midsummer plowing particularly it is of the utmost importance to run the harrow immediately after the plow. This prevents the formation of clods.—W. J. Spillman.

Cost of Concrete Posts.

It is claimed by one investigator that concrete posts can be made for 14 cents each. It is explained, however, that this low cost would be possible only when large numbers of posts are made.

Johnny's Plot Foiled.

Johnny Jones—My sister has been took with the measles, teacher. Teacher—Then you'd better go home at once, Johnny, and stay there till she gets well. Freddy Brown—Please, teacher, Johnny's sister is stopping with his aunt in Chicago.—Boston Transcript.

The Wily Bell Boy.

A hotel man in New Hampshire was surprised to see one of his women guests come downstairs several nights running, fill her pitcher from the water cooler in the hall and return quietly to her room again. At first he thought the lady had some special reason for this queer performance. Then he thought he had better speak to her. Accordingly on the fourth or fifth night he approached her politely, took the pitcher from her hands and filled it himself.

"If you would ring, madam," he said, "this would always be done for you. There is no occasion for you ever to come down yourself for water. A ring"—

"But I have no bell," said the lady.

"Oh, madam, of course you have a bell. I'll show it to you."

And he carried the pitcher up to her room for her and pointed to the bell beside her bed.

"That is the bell," he said.

The lady started in surprise.

"That the bell?" she exclaimed. "Why, the bell boy told me that was the fire alarm and I wasn't to touch it on any account except in case of fire."—Washington Star.

The First Fly Fishers.

Doubtless the reason why artificial flies were originally invented was because it was impossible to use the smaller and more delicate natural flies as baits on the hook. The first fly fisher cast his eyes about him in search of something that would answer in imitating the flies upon which the trout were feeding. Feathers were naturally the first materials thought of, and the old red cock's hackle was the first of all the artificial insects, the old, old Adam of them all. The breed has been increasing for several hundred years and numbers 2,000 or more at the present day. Of salmon flies alone there are several hundred patterns. These belong to the lure order mostly, as do many of the large flies used for bass and trout. The little old red hackle remains a good fly to this day and is put upon bodies of many colors, peacock harl being perhaps as well liked as anything; red wool is favored by many.—Forest and Stream.

Indians and War Paint.

The Indians have a tradition that tells how the custom of painting their faces originated. A certain big chief while hunting deer was chased by a lion and fell exhausted, calling upon the Big Bear, which Indians believe was the grandfather of man, to save him. The Big Bear heard and went to the man's assistance, scratching his foot and sprinkling the blood over him. No animal will eat bear or taste his blood, and when the lion smelled it he turned away. But in doing so he scratched some of the blood off the Indian's face with his claw by accident. When he found himself unhurt, the Indian was so thankful that he let the blood dry on his face. With the marks of the lion's claws this gave the effect of stripes, and ever afterward when going on hunting expeditions for man or beast the Indian painted his face in stripes as a charm against danger.

The Left Hand.

It is strange that so strong a prejudice against the left hand has lived and increased for centuries when there is no natural or physiological reason for it. Examination of the skeleton of a person who was strong, healthy and well formed in life shows that the bones of the left hand and arm are just as large and capable as those of the right. The study of physiology shows, too, that the muscles and ligaments and cartilages that fastened that person's arms to his body and gave them the power of motion were made to do their work just as well on one side of the body as on the other. If the left side was the weaker, it was because of the failure to exercise it as freely as the other.—Scrap Book.

Entertaining.

"Is your family entertaining this season?" inquired the society devotee.

"Well," answered Mr. Cumrox, "mother and the girls seem kind of amusing to me, but everybody else seems to take 'em seriously."—Washington Star.

A Reluctant Sport.

A Denver hotel man tells the following story, and he says it's true: One day a bride and bridegroom from the country registered at the hotel.

"What are your rates for room and board for two?" asked the bridegroom.

"Six dollars," was the reply.

That was satisfactory, and the two were given a room. When they decided to leave, the bridegroom asked for his bill. It was $24. He was staggered.

"What!" he ejaculated. "Twenty-four dollars! That's an outrage. You said $6."

"Six dollars a day," came from the clerk—"six dollars a day."

"Six dollars a day!" the bridegroom almost shouted. "I thought you meant $6 a week!"

The clerk simply smiled. Finally the bridegroom paid over the money.

"Now," he said, calming down somewhat, "wait a minute. I want to go upstairs. Keep that money in your hand."

The clerk didn't understand, but he decided to humor the man. The latter soon returned with a camera. Aiming it at the clerk, he took a picture.

"This is the highest priced place I ever stopped at," he explained. "I just wanted a picture to show my friends that I was a real sport here in Denver."

Then he and his bride gathered up their telescopes and went out.—Denver Post.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—Frank Naginey received a car load of furniture from New York.

—Edward Nolan sold his interest in the laundry to Mr. Frank Kerns.

—George Bush has received 10,000 new postal cards made in Germany of scenes around Bellefonte.

—Dr. and Mrs. Edward Harris of Butler, are now the happy parents of a little daughter, who is just about one week old.

—The mite society of the Evangelical church of Howard presented the Bellefonte hospital with nine new sheets and nine new pillow cases.

—Harry Shivery sold 600 quarts of milk to Bellefonte customers last Thursday—tell you what that is getting rid of the milk. He must have a monopoly on the milk business.

—The many friends of Col. J. L. Spangler will be glad to learn that he is rapidly recovering from an operation he underwent about ten days ago in the Presbyterian hospital, in Philadelphia.

—Mrs. Edward Eckenroth, of Bellefonte, who underwent a serious operation in the hospital Saturday, is getting along as well as can be expected. There is hardly any doubt as to her recovery.

—William T. Vallance and family, who have been residents of Bellefonte for many years, have decided to leave the "Home of Governors" and moved to Lock Haven where they will make their futnre home.

—Miss Mame Butts will leave next week for Philadelphia where she has accepted a very good position as stenographer and type-writer. Inasmuch as she will be away all the time, Mrs. J. P. Gephart will move in with Miss Henrietta Butts and the two of them will keep house together.

—Mrs. Anna C. Woodcock has decided to return to Bellefonte and make this her future home. She expects to come here some time toward the latter part of next week an as she has not yet found a suitable house in which to go to housekeeping she will store her goods and board until she does.

—The Democratic Watchman has expressed itself very decidedly "foreninst" a curfew ordinance at the county seat. This surprising attitude can be accounted for only by the intense desire for consistency as a Democrat, to whom anything savoring of protection, even of the children, is an offense.—Philipsburg Ledger.

—In a little less than two weeks the tbout season will open and already the ardent disciple of Isaak Walton is getting his fishing tackle in preparation for the event. Good trout fishing is expected in the neighboring streams as the water during the past year has been strong and favorable for the young trout with which the streams have been stocked

—A block system for the running of trains is to be put in effect on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad on or about May first. The towers will be located about five miles apart and it is expected the system will be a great help to averting collisions or accidents of any kind. When this system is fully installed the telegraph offices along the line will be moved from the various stations to the towers nearest the station.

—And still they come. This week John Olewine and Dr. J. L. Seibert both ordered automobiles, the Stanley steamer. They will be eight horse power, built as a runabout with tonneaus attached. When these machines arrive and if they prove satisfactory, a certain dentist in Bellefonte will also likely get one. At this rate of going Bellefonte promises to be a very lively automobile town by the time the summer season sets in good and proper.

—On Monday dealers in stocks in this place were somewhat surprised by the announcement that Henry J. Spuhler & Co. of Pittsburg, has bought out John Larkin & Co. T. S. Strawn is Spuhler's representative in Bellefonte and Harry L. Garber was Larkin & Co's. and Thursday route agent Patterson came here and transferred Garber's sheet to Strawn's office, thus closing the former's office. However, Mr. Garber will endeavor to get another correspondent and remain in Bellefonte.

—The Lewisburg freight was delayed about 5 hours in leaving Bellefonte Thursday morning on account of some defect in one of the cars. Milton Snaufler reported the defect to headquarters and he was told to hold the car until it was in fit condition to be taken out. If more conductors on the Pennsylvania lines would be as careful as this man the company would be better off financially as less wrecks would occur and more precious lives would be saved. Conductor Snaufler did perfectly right in holding the train.

—John Sourbeck sold his 2.17 pacer on Friday.

—Ben Gentzel shipped a carload of big horses to West Chester Thursday.

—Mrs. Humes and the Gilmore family moved Thursday to the Linn street home.

—An addition of fifteen feet is being built to the baggage room at the P. R. R. station.

—R. Branman has bought the McBride property from the Mary McBride estate. The price paid was $4000.

—Mrs. Ed C. Cooke and her daughter Hazel will leave next week to join Mr. Cooke at La Bananea, State of Sonora, Mexico.

—Horses, hogs and sheep were the most sought after live stock sold at public sales. The bidding on these was altogether reckless.

—Mr. Thomas Laurie took very sick on Tuesday and badly frightened his friends. His condition today is some what improved.

—Miss Blanche Cox and her little baby were taken to the Salvation Army Rescue Home at Philadelphia Saturday morning by Captain Irwin.

—The Standard Steel Works at Burnham will have at the Jamestown Exposition one of the most notable exhibits of the steel manufacturing industry in the United States.

—New comb Honey, New buckwheat Flour, Schmidts butter nut bread, Barrington Hall steel cut Coffee, selected sweetpotatoes, Red ripe cranbarries. 1 mo. Oct. 26, Sechler & Co.

—Harry Clevenstine, manager of the carpet department at Joseph stores returned home Thursday morning from Millheim where he carpeted the large Odd Fellows hall at that place, with fine brussels carpet.

—Mrs. J. C. Harper entertained at her Howard street home on Monday evening in honor of her two sisters, Miss Sarah Graham and Mrs. Ester Gorden who left Tuesday for their future home at Lewistown.

—Mrs Henrietta Bryan, of Roland celebrated her 65th anniversary on Friday evening by having about 50 friends at her home for a chicken and waffle supper. Quite a number of Bellefonte people were in attendance.

—Miss Adaline Olewine entertained at her home on Spring street a party of young ladies and gentlemen in honor of Miss Ruth Bottorf and her school friend Miss Emma Gearhart from the Bucknell University, who are guests at the Olewine home over Easter.

—The best cure for spring fever is to earn your own living. The boy or girl, the young man or young woman who works for his or her own living, and does not impose the burden of providing for him or her on his or her parents, is not bothered with "spring fever." It's a pity the disease is not fatal.

—"Pike" Mills has been signed by the Altoona Giants to play 1st base on their team this season. Pike is an all around player and will be a winner in the Railroad city team. We will miss him in Bellefonte but when he is offered good money to play elsewhere, we say go old man and may good luck go with you.

—Colonel Noll has been appointed an Aide de Camp on General R. B. Brown's staff, the National Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic. Colonel Noll is also an Aide de Camp on the Pennsylvania Commanders staff. We extend our heartiest congratulations to you COLONEL NOLL

—In a little article written by the officers of the Salvation Army a great many names were mentioned of those released from the army staff, among which were the following young ladies and gentlemen who left town and went back to their own churches, Misses Askey, Leech, Crust, Wian and Mr. William Steel.

—On Sunday evening Martin Reese the conductor on the Snow Shoe train saw a lamp explode in the home of George Uzzle who lives just across the street from the Reese family at Snow Shoe, and he ran over and with hard work saved the house from burning down. As it was Mr. Uzzle lost most every thing in the room where the lamp exploded, but was certainly lucky, in having friends so near at hand to help him extinguish the flames.

—Miss Margaret Miller who has been confined to her bed so long with an injured limb is able to sit up. Some very kind people sent her a large Morris chair and others remembered her with sweet Easter flowers. That puts us in mind of that good old hymn: "There are lonely hearts to cherish, While the days are going by, If a smile we can renew as our journey we pursue, oh the good we all may do while the days are going by.

—We received a letter from a Milesburg citizen on Tuesday unsigned in which he paid a most glowing compliment to Mr. J. T. Leathers the present professor in the High School at that place. This person speaks of Mr. Leathers as being the best disciplinrian the school has ever had and that the gentleman is held in high esteem by the scholars and the parents. He is also an earnest Y. M. C. A. worker and quite an athlete. It is the sincere wish and desire of this citizen and tax-payer to have Mr. Leathers return to Milesburg for next term of school.

—The Adams Express has a pretty new sign in front of their office on High street.

—Charles E. Roseman an old Bellefonte boy is now in Uncle Sam's Army and is located away out in Spokane Washington. He is a Sergeant in the bugle corp connected with Company D, 3rd U. S. I. Charley is a all around good fellow and we know he will make a success in the army. Some day we will hear of him commanding a company or a regiment for Uncle Sam.

OUR BORO FATHERS.

Curfew Law Under Consideration. Other Business Transacted.

The regular semi-monthly session of the Borough Council was held on Monday evening with the following members present: Kirk, Shuey, Hamilton, Wagner, Judge. In the absence of President Keller the chair was occupied by Mr. Shuey as Pro Tem

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. L. T. Munson requested council to remove sewer from Mrs. Munson's property on North Allegheny street as she desires to move her house back to centre of lot and the sewer interferes with the foundation of house This was referred to the street committee to investigate and report.

William A. Lyon and citzens of East High street asked for a sewer up like alley in the rear of their residences. Referred to street committee.

Maurice Yeager for the Yeager Mfg. Company, asked council to furnish power for their plant from their engine at the Phoenix Water Works, while their machinery was being moved into their new building. Referred to street committee to investigate and report

Life Tate sent a communication to council asking that they refund him $3 00 of a fine imposed upon him by the police. The police he alleged made him pay a fine of $5 00 without giving him a hearing, after having locked him up in the lock-up. Referred to fire and police company.

When old business was taken up the street committee reported against allowing damages to G. A. Beezer as a result of raising the street at his livery stable on Water street.

A form of a curfew ordinance was submitted by the Boro Solicitor for council to consider. It was finally referred to a special committee. Mr. Shuey was chosen chairman and he selected Dr. Kirk and Henry Brown as his associates on this committee.

Peter Mendis complained in regard to the burning of paper etc., in the alley in the rear of his property on East High street. It was a menace to safety of all the properties in that vicinity. The council requested the reporter for this paper to warn all people against the burning of refuse or paper on the streets and alleys under penalty of being arrested and fined for same. There is an ordinance prohibiting the burning of paper etc in this careless manner.

MRS. WILLARD DEAD.

Passed to Her Reward Wednesday Morning at 6:30 O'clock.

Mrs. Nannie Willard died Wednesday morning at 6:30 o'clock at her home in Altoona.

Mrs. Willard has been a sufferer for several years with cancer and during all this time she was patient, cheerful and faithful and when the end came she was waiting for the summons of her Master to go to that home of peace and rest, and as the poet has said "She dipped her feet in Jordon's tide, and said good bye on the other side." What a hope, and what a peace of mind, one must have to die, fully trusting in her Master as this good lady did. Loving and obedient always ready and waiting, to do His will when ever and wherever she was needed. She was a staunch Temperance Advocate and whenever an opportunity presented itself, Mrs. Willard would do all in her power to help the cause.

She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and a great worker in the cause of missions. She was born in Virginia in 1850 and was fifty-six years old last August. She leaves to mourn her death two children, Wardner and Mrs. Morris Hazel both of Altoona, and the following brothers and sister: Edward R., William and George Chambers, and Mrs. William Larimer of Bellefonte; and James of DuBois. Funeral services will be held at her late home in Altoona and the body will be brought to Bellefonte and interment made from the train on Friday morning.

JOHN KNISELY TO BE MANAGER.

Of the Garman House for one year. License Transferred.

The liquor license from April 1st 1907 to April 1st 1908 that had been granted to C. Bruce Garman a day before he died was transferred Friday morning to the estate of the late C. Bruce Garman, and they will continue the hotel business during the coming year. Mrs. C. Bruce Garman will remain there to supervise the hotel as land lady as she has heretofore filled the position in a most successful manner. She has secured the services of Mr. John Knisely of the firm of Knisely Brothers the wholesale and retail cigar dealers to manage this popular hostelry for her and he will give the business his entire attention. Mrs. Garman is a very bright young lady and to supervise a large hotel of this kind is a large undertaking, but we feel sure that she is capable of conducting the business with efficiency and dignity. And with Mr. Knisely to assist her she can not help but be successful.

The estate of Daniel Garman joined in the petition for this licence and are on the bond.

J. K. Rhoads Promoted.

Word was received here Wednesday evening of the advancement of another of our Bellefonte boys

Joseph J. Rhoads, brother of our fellowtownsman Edward K. Rhoads has just been promoted from his present position of Assistant Engineer of the Philadelphia and Erie Division of the Penna. Railroad to that of Assistant Engineer of the important Philadelphia Terminal Division on the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad with headquartsrs at Philadelphia to take effect April first.

This is indeed a promotion worthy of notice, as the position is a most responsible and important one. It may be remembered that a few years ago Mr. Rhoads came into prominence as the only supervisor of the Penna. Railroad who ever succeeded in capturing the great "Klondike" prize for the best line and surface on the road for two years in succession which he did while supervisor of the New York Division.

The Republican extends hearty congratulations to Mr. Rhoads and predicts for him a brilliant future.

"The Little Homestead."

A story of human interest, faithful in its adherence to the actual happenings of life, will be found in "The Little Homestead" which will be seen at the Garman Opera House on April 8th 1907. The press and critics have pronounced the play to be above the ordinary, the company of a superior character and the settings appropriately in keeping with the title.
